

Sixteenth Flower of Suffolk, 3rd October 2010, Results

We discovered at the end of August that the Environment agency hadn't finished raising the banks in the Walberswick marshes last year, and that the footpaths were likely to be closed again. Two weeks before the event the path from the beach past Dingle Great Hill was likely to be open – however, on the Thursday (while the routes were being printed) I was told they hadn't finished. This meant the route had to be diverted down the beach to Dunwich - reducing the distance below the magic 26 miles beloved by the marathon runners so optional an extra ½ mile loop was added.

There were a record (at least in recent times) of 173 entrants, however the rather mixed weather forecast seems to have put a lot of people off – there were 48 non starters (including one person who turned up only to discover she'd brought two left shoes). In fact the rain didn't really make it to the Suffolk coast and conditions were almost ideal for walking. No one retired, but a few people skipped the southern loop.
